

Bloom Retreat is seeking a talented Acupuncturist who loves to work in community.

We are seeking an acupuncturist to join our wholeness center to help support the health of a thriving community of women. Bloom is a wholeness center, meaning we support women—body, mind, and soul—and help them heal, empower them to grow and bit by bit put back the broken pieces so that they can remember who they truly are - and then bloom.

As women we tend to give pieces of ourselves away – to our families, careers, and loved ones. It can be really hard to create space for the life we dream of. We often end up feeling tired, broken, lost, and alone. Bloom creates a sacred container for each of us to feel held, nurtured, and part of something meaningful.

At Bloom we are on a mission to bring women together in community and sisterhood using yoga, movement, and wellness as vehicles to open us to each other and ourselves. We offer specialized yoga and movement programs, including The Practice® and our Bloom Signature Series, all focused on empowerment, commitment, and connection. We also offer holistic wellness services including massage, acupuncture, therapy, and chiropractic care to support all of your needs. It is a very personal experience, where everyone knows your name and every woman feels seen.

This is a unique opportunity for an acupuncturist to join our family and become part of a movement and community of women supporting women. This is perfect for you if you desire to work in collaboration, as part of a group practice, and to be supported as you rise in your career.

Why join Bloom Retreat?

When you join Bloom Retreat, you join an established brand with a trusting member base and client pool to serve. You get to rest in the arms of Bloom, let us take care of the nitty gritty, and simply bring your soul's work to the center. We handle all of the logistics from marketing, front desk administration, bookings (online and in house), credit card processing, billing, transactions, and business growth. Our professional business development staff are here to help you grow into all of you are as a woman and as an acupuncturist. Our space is stunning, clean, and feels much like a home (rather than a white-coat medical office). We have two beautiful treatment rooms for your use, plus a "living room" for you to relax and work in between clients.

One of the beauties of working at Bloom, is that you are not alone. You are joining a community of health practitioners and healers, to collaborate, grow and create with. Your days are spent surrounded by like-minded women. In addition to collaborating with others, the opportunities for your expansion are endless. Not only do you get to offer individual care, we invite you to share your gifts in workshops, mini classes, and group/community treatments. We also offer a private Facebook group of over 1200 members of which you can connect, share, and educate along the way. We want you to become one of our leaders and mentors within the community. We are here to help you shine.

Who we are looking for:

- A woman acupuncturist specializing in women's health. We serve the whole spectrum of women's needs including young women, hormone balancing, pre and postnatal health, and menopause. We have a large community of pregnant women.
- A woman who loves and appreciates collaborating and working in community. At Bloom, you are joining a family of women supporting women. We work together to help each woman thrive. This includes cross-referring, supporting other practitioners and teachers, and becoming an integral part of the community.

- A woman who is excited about offering workshops, and “dropping in” to yoga classes and workshops to share your gifts.
- A woman who can work a minimum 3-days per week with some flexibility and room to grow.
- A woman who is looking for a home for the long term. We want to invest in you and build something sustainable into the future.
- A woman who is warm, nurturing, compassionate, and works through a feminine lens.

This is perfect for you if:

- You love the idea of someone else handling all the “business needs” and feel relieved that marketing, bookings, and all business logistics are handled.
- You love the idea of being a part of a group practice, and a community of women.
- You feel called to support a mission deeply embedded in the belief that sisterhood, connection, and feminine leadership are key to a new paradigm of wellness.
- Running a business can feel overwhelming, and you love the idea of just showing up and bringing your gifts to a community.
- You can’t wait to show up, share, connect, and become a leader in a community of women.

Compensation:

This is a long-term contract position. We offer a competitive payment plan, plus built in bonuses, and unlimited yoga classes.

Location:

Bloom Retreat is located in Walnut Creek, CA.

If this sounds like a wonderful opportunity for you and you would like to talk more with us please contact Kate Helber at kate@bloomretreat.com to set up a time to talk. We are open to working with students newly out of school and just setting up their practices to those who are more experienced but long for a community in which to practice. If it calls to you - reach out!
